

QUEENSLAND ON EDGE - SPECIAL EDITION

UNRIVALLED ANALYSIS: Bolt, Wardill, Atkins and Viellaris

LNP SHOCKWAVES: Nicholls faces knife as sharks circle Prime Minister

The Courier Mail

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 2017 // $1.60 INCL GST // COURIERMAIL.COM.AU

PREMIER'S REIGN DELAY

ELECTION TEST

47
TO WIN

ALP
43

LNP
35

OTHER
3

UNDEC.
12

SARAH VOGLER

PREMIER Anastacia Palaszczuk is just a few seats away from forming a majority government but won't be drawn on whether she will keep her "no deals" promise if she falls short.

The collapse of the LNP's primary vote and a strong One Nation result in regional Queensland has also strengthened moves to replace Prime Minister Malcolm Turnbull, with fears the weekend's result could devastate the Coalition if replicated federally.

A dozen seats across the state hang in the balance, in a result that might not be known for days, even weeks. Labor needs to secure at least 47 seats to win a second term, with the Premier admitting the party needed to "re-engage" with voters.

But Ms Palaszczuk yesterday said she was "not even thinking about" making deals to form government.

FULL COVERAGE P4-13

Thankfully this result will be clear today

AUSSIES REIGN SUPREME

ASHES TEST

56
TO WIN

FULL REPORT SPORT

